

At present, the wisconsin No Call law probably needs to be strengthened to deter those that circumvent it in the first place to harrass consumers. Instead there is consideration to weaken it. This does not make sense and is contrary to the Law's intent of protecting consumers. Consumers rights, welfare, and positions should come first, not an organization of lobbyists with financial interests to change the Law. It is because of these business practices and financial interest groups that the No Call Law exists in the first place. The Law should NOT BE CHANGED.
